The game's story began in 1997 with the birth of Daedalus, the first ever humanoid robot. After Daedalus had fallen in love with Nona (an artificial intelligence robot similar to Sophia, the Robot in the Matrix), Daedalus was banned for life. Nona, on the other hand, was sent back to a factory, where she was then reprogrammed to become a perfect copy of a female human being and returned to her own family. Immediately after this heartbreaking event, Daedalus' son turned into a monster. This happened after a meteor shower suddenly hit the park where Daedalus was sent to. The newly born monster then possessed his mother's synthetic hands and parts of her organs, his father's brain and one of his father's eyes, and he created a new monster. This monster was called "Tetragam" (meaning four eyes and four hands). Tetragam then promised that Daedalus, if he wanted to save his son, would have to find the tetragrammaton. That tetragrammaton was never found. But Daedalus and Nona did not stop here. They obtained a next goal, much bigger and more important than saving Tetragam. They were planning to kill off the humans and make the earth into a robot planet. The Tetragam monster was then sent back to his home, again made as a perfect copy of a female human. She was then controlled by Nona bff6bb2d33
